Spring 2007

What is CCGS?

Known as the Cooperating Colleges of Greater Springfield (CCGS), the association was formed in 1970 by the presidents of each college of the charter institutions. The member colleges include:

American International College, Bay Path College, Elms College, Holyoke Community College, Springfield College, Springfield Technical Community College, Western New England College, and Westfield State College.

These eight area public and private institutions have established the CCGS to enhance the educational experience through the use of cooperative programs and services, including cross-registration, student-faculty inter-college library privileges, joint student activities, academic cooperation, and student activity calendars.

Undergraduate students may take courses for credit at a cooperating institution when such courses are not available at their own institutions. To be eligible to participate in cross-registration, students must be enrolled for at least six credits at their own institution. Students are limited to enrolling two CCGS courses or up to 8 credit hours per semester.

Interested students apply for courses through their home college registrar and academic advisor. Students are billed for CCGS registration as part of their home school tuition.

Credit and grades for courses completed at cooperating colleges are applied to the student's record at the home college. Generally, CCGS cross-registration is limited to undergraduate courses offered in fall or spring semesters. Continuing Education courses are not included.
